Centrum Resident Use Policy

Corvidae Press (the Guild) is an association of artists who share an interest in printmaking and who support and manage a common non-toxic printmaking facility. Membership is based on an interest in printmaking and a commitment to the cooperative structure and spirit of the organization.

Corvidae Press is a nonprofit corporation governed by a board of directors, dedicated to the pursuit of the printmaker's craft, with a focus on education, community and regional interaction.

It is in this spirit that the Guild sets these guidelines for studio use for Centrum Residents:

1. Centrum, having 1 membership in the Guild, can therefore provide any qualified Centrum Resident/(CR) access to the print studio under the same guidelines applicable to all Guild members (see item 2).
2. The CR will have unlimited communal studio access 24 hours-7 days a week, during each residency, without priority over Guild members. The CR must abide by all Corvidae Press guidelines and studio rules. These Guidelines and Rules will be given to the CR by Centrum with their orientation packet.
3. The CR must provide his/her own printmaking supplies; inks, plates and paper, plus any other special materials they require. Note: Corvidae Press operates a non-toxic print studio, no exceptions. (Corvidae guidelines provide information).
4. Centrum must provide Corvidae Press with CR contact information, dates of intended studio use and/or public events she/he may wish to conduct, including workshops, demonstrations and lectures. (With as much advance notice as possible).
5. The number of CRs is limited to 8 per year, with only 2 (two) CR printmakers in residence at any one time (unless special consideration is requested, in advance, by Centrum and/or potential CRs).

Corvidae Press Board of Directors will review this policy on an annual basis adjusting as required and will consider all of Centrum's requests.
